Summer Camp Teacher

Flat Rock Brook Nature Center
Englewood, New Jersey

Responsibilities: Coordinate and teach a summer nature day camp. Develop programs and curriculum materials in cooperation with the Education Director, and create a fun, learning atmosphere for children in first through seventh grades in week-long sessions for three age levels. One age group meets per week in groups of 10-15 children. The outdoor program is based on awareness and appreciation of the natural world at a 150-acre natural setting in suburban New Jersey.

Qualifications: College training in environmental education, environmental science, elementary education, or a related field. Prior experience teaching young children in an outdoor setting required and a familiarity with various teaching techniques and curriculum materials. Essential is a caring attitude toward children and a love of the outdoors.

Dates: Various weeks from late-June to mid-August 2008,
Monday – Friday 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Salary: Commensurate with experience. No housing available.
